Returns Very Meager and the State Still

St. PAUL, MINN., Nov. 9.—Returns from and he carries the state by a round majority Illinois has gone for him. Connecticut, claimed sary to go further. These results settle the ques-tion without regard to returns from the other doubtful states.

THE STATE IN DOUBT. The state is in doubt. This is the best and the worst that can be said by any party. The returns come in slowly and it was not until nearly midnight that any returns were received from any part of the state. Hardly any precincts in any of the cities or towns were con at midnight and at 3 o'clock there were no figures to claim but one thing.

It is the fact that Donnelly's vote will be very much smaller than was expected by even his opponents. This vote may, and probably will, be increased in the Red River valley, but Of course, the fifty or sixty precincts that have been heard from are villages and cities, but there are no indications that Sage has done any better in the country than he has in the towns and villages. Everywhere Cleveland and the country than he has in the towns and villages. Everywhere Cleveland and the country than he has in the towns and villages. towns and villages. It was after 3 this morning that Chairman Wall of the democratic state committee sent the foregoing dispatch. At that hour all doubt that Wisconsin is really a democratic state had been removed.

Returns from one-quarter of the state showed that Cleveland and Peck (governor) had carried the state by a plurality of from 10,000 to 15,000. Both branches of the legislature are democratic and a majority of the congressional delegation.

Maddison, Wis., Nov. 9.—The indications are that the following Congressmen have been elected: First district, Cooper (rep.); second district, Barwig (dem.); third district, Babcock (rep.); fourth district, Mitchell (dem.); saxth district, Wells (dem.); seventh district, Shaw (rep.); eighth district, Barnes (dem.); ninth district, Lynch (dem.); tenth district, Haugen (rep.)

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 9.—The democrate have carried Wisconsin. This is conceded by the fact that Cleveland's electors secured nearly 40,000 votes, almost as much as the legitimate strength of the populists in 1890. The populists were then in their zenith of power. Their vote was 71,000. Their great loss is attributed, to their first love by the fusion with the democrate. This strengthened the republicans two-fold and crippled the enemy they feared most. Then again the rank and file of the farmers were not satisfied with their leaders. The populist movement in Nebraska originated armong an honest, sincere element of agriculturists, who first organized in order to obtain their domestic supplies at wholesale prices. Minwaukee, Wis., Nov. 9.—The democrate have carried Wisconsin. This is conceded by Henry C. Payne, the Wisconsin member of the republican national committee, and John C. Spooner, the republican gubernatorial candidate. They admit the defeat of the party and any that it is due to the Lutheran vote, about one-half of the Lutherans of the state descring the republican party because of the school issue. > REPUBLICANS CLAIM NEBRASKA. Belief This Morning That the State Gives Harrison a Small Majority.

scial Dispatch to The Evening Star. OMAHA, NEE., Nov. 8.—This is from the resublican committee headquarters. Returns from the state are coming in very slowly. At republican state Readquarters at 11 o'clock Chairman Cady stated that although he had not received returns sufficient to justify him in quoting figures he felt satisfied that Nebraska would give Harrison its electoral vote by a safe that his opponent, air. Geo. Free Williams, made a mistake in conducting his campaign by personal attacks upon him. "I think I have a right to draw that conclusion. plurality. He had no doubt of the election of the republican state ticket. All returns received indicate republican gains over two years ago and corresponding losses for independent and democratic tickets.

WHAT THE "BEE" SAYS. The Bee says editorially: "Returns up to mid night are too incomplete to enable the Bee to make a definite announcement of the outcome, either national, state or county. The returns from Nebraska are very meager, but sufficient is known to indicate that the state has gone to Harrison by a small plurality.

The election of Judge Crounse and a majority of the republican state ticket is conceded by the democrats. The congressional districts in this state will be very close. It is impossible at this time to make any reliable forecast as to the legislature. It will take two or three days to get the returns from every legislative trict, and in close districts it will take the official count to determine the result

REPRESENTATIVE BRYAN RE-ELECTED. Mr. Bryan, the apostle of tariff reform, will, according to the latest advices, succeed himself to Congress. He will make a stand off with his opponent, Judge Fields, in Sanders county. This county Judge Fields must win by 4,000 or 4,500 to prevail over Bryan, whose election is virtually conceded. A DEMOCRATIC PAPER IN DOUBT.

the democratic. The republicans have carried the third, sixth, eighth, minth, eleventh and twelfth. The first, fourth and seventh are in doubt.

The latest reports on state representatives divide the state as follows: Republican, 54; democratic, 35; fusion, 11. This insures a handsome republican majority.

Incomplete returns show that the republicans will carry twenty-two of the senatorial districts with a strong probability that more will be added to the list.

The returns from Michigan have not been as slow coming in as they were last night. This is attributable to the new system of voting.

The republicans have undoubtedly elected the greater portion if not the entire state ticket by from eight to fifteen thousand plurality. The Free Frees (dem.) concedes the election of all on the ticket except Ellis for attorney general and Newton for associate justice of the supreme court, who were on both the democratic and people's tickets. Michigan's electoral vote is badly split up. The indications are that six of these votes will be cast for Cleveland, while the republicans say they are certain of nine.
